Military History Symposium Series of the United States Air Force Academy, Vol. 10
Mark K. Wells, Series Editor

Harnessing the Heavens brings together the leading scholars of national defense through space in one volume. These fourteen essays from the U.S. Air Force Academy's 21st Military History Symposium collectively provide a wide-ranging overview of humanity's efforts to use spaceflight and spacecraft, military and civilian, to advance national goals. With attention to the American, Soviet and Russian, and Chinese space programs, this volume carefully considers the political, technological, and social challenges of space, and gives the reader the best of the emerging and growing field of space history.
